

Blue Mountains of Mexico

Gretchen Peters

I found a postcard from long ago
In a drawer yesterday.
Come back to Tucson, I miss you so.

It was warm here today.
Northern Rockies all deep in snow
Clear down to the Sangre de Cristo.

Blue Mountains of Mexico

Will be always alone, still out there on our own. Time like money just disappears

No one knows where it goes.

You spend it so recklessly
When you've got nothing but time.

Warm sun on adobe walls,
We kissed in the desert dawn.

Blue Mountains of Mexico

Will we be always alone, still out there on our own. If we meet down the road somewhere

Would we know what to say?

Or has the river flowed too many miles
Now we're too far away

To get lightning back in a bottle
Like old lovers trying to stop the hands of time.

Blue Mountains of Mexico

Will we be always alone, still out there on our own.
