First Love

Billie Piper

Your first love
Your first love is
Your first love is someone thatYour first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forgetYou say it's better to loved and lost
Then never to have loved at all
Try to sell it to this heart of mine
They say it's gonna take time
I think I've cried about a million tears
I've done a lot of living in a few short years
And it's all from you
I can't forget youYou're the first to ever really kiss me
You're the first to ever break my heart
Now I know in my life there'll be others
But you will always be my first love
First loveEverybody in the world can see
What my new boy means to me
Makes me feel like a woman inside
Where my little girl used to hide
Gettin' on with my life again
I still think about you every now and then
There's gotta be a first time for everything
Even when it comes to loversYou're the first to ever really kiss me
You're the first to ever break my heart
Now I know in my life there'll be others
But you will always be my first love
First loveLookin at some photographs
And I miss it
From the way you make me go
Ooh ooh
Felt like a woman when you drove me home
Saying somethin somethin on the telephoneYour first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forgetYou're the first to ever really kiss me
You're the first to ever break my heart
Now I know in my life there'll be others

But you will always be my first love
My first loveYou're the first to ever really touch me
Not the last who's gonna make me cry
Now I know in my life there'll be others
But you will always be my first love
First loveYour first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forgetYour first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
Your first love is someone that you never forget
