

A Chapter Without You

Out With the Old

Get dressed
Such a mess
Welcome to the new world order
Your disorder
Is making me sink my own teeth
In everything good about me
Last chance
Do your dance
Anything to get attention
Your intentions much more than I bargained for Now I'm passed out on the floor I couldn't wait for the city lights
I'm homesick and I'm feeling weak
Run quick better hold on tight
I'm sorry baby but the city aint for me No shooting star could guide me
Right back to you
When I still wear my heart on my sleeve
You know exactly what to do
My head tells my heart to stop beating for you
I'll just fall apart like you know how I do
I'll turn the page to another chapter
A chapter without you Smooth lies your disguise
My mistake for making you seem interested
In me more than I wanted too
Give a fuck if I embarrassed you
Headed out, headed home, now I'm already gone
Tell me now how I'm only a terrible boy
Know I can so I will, fill the gap that you left in my heart
You were always fucked from the start I couldn't wait for the city lights
I'm homesick and I'm feeling weak
Run quick better hold on tight
I'm sorry baby but the city aint for me
No shooting star could guide me
Right back to you
When I still wear my heart on my sleeve
You know exactly what to do
My head tells my heart to stop beating for you
I'll just fall apart like you know how I do
I'll turn the page to another chapter
A chapter without you I'm moving mountains so I can see a brand new sunrise

I know there's something better than this
I'm moving mountains so I can see a brand new sunrise
I know there's something better than this No shooting star could guide me
Right back to you
When I still wear my heart on my sleeve
You know exactly what to do
My head tells my heart to stop beating for you
I'll just fall apart like you know how I do
I'll turn the page to another chapter
A chapter without you

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>