Violent Seas

Taproot

Standing on a land unknown, interpreting the same
Believing in a chance of hope and see it slowly fade
It's breaking far away, replacing what I'm made ofLooking for a way to show
(That I'm)

Searching for a faith who knows

(That I'm)

Screaming for a place to go'Cause I'm drowning in the violent seas

Of being force fed society's

Shallow end of misery, please take me away 'cause I can't stay Looking for a way to show that I'm okay

Screaming for a place like homeTreading in the fears I own of ending up ashamed While cornered in this life and prone by overbearing waves

That steal what I have saved replacing what I gave upLooking for a way to show

(That I'm)

Searching for a faith who knows

(That I'm)

Screaming for a place to go'Cause I'm drowning in the violent seas

Of being force fed society's

Shallow end of misery, please take me away 'cause I can't stay

Looking for a way to show that I'm okay

Screaming for a place like home

Away, far away, far awayDrowning in the violent seas Of being force fed society's

Shallow end of misery, please take me away 'cause I can't stay
Looking for a way to show that I'm okay
Screaming for a place like home
Far away, far awayScreaming for a place like home
