

Man on the Moon

Phillip Phillips

Oh, oh, oh yeah,
Oh, oh, oh yeah,
Oh, oh, oh yeah I watch the world from a side of the moon
Looking at the stars, looking back to you
Just to see if your were still alive
Looking at the sun with the fire in your eyes It's hard to know where I stand
Even a man on the moon couldn't tell me where to land
But, I wanted to fly in the sea with no gravity to pull me down Hold on it won't take long
You can find yourself if you decide to finally start
Don't run to me when you fall
'Cause the steps getting bigger so we here to walk them all
And you know how I feel
So don't let your life start to slowly, waste away
Uh oh, no no So tell me this one thing
Now listen to me close
You steal from me but you call it your own
You liar you thief go make your stand on your own two feet
So oh now, oh now, listen what your friends say
Go now go now go and do it that a way
I'm the one you want to believe
But in your heart you can't see Hold on it won't take long
You can find yourself if you decide to finally start
Don't run to me when you fall
'Cause the steps getting bigger so we here to walk them all
And you know how I feel
So don't let your life start to slowly, waste away Oh, let it fall, let it fall Hold on it won't take long
You can find yourself if you decide to finally start
Don't run to me when you fall
'Cause the steps getting bigger so we here to walk them all
And you know how I feel
So don't let your life start to slowly, waste away
