Home

Chelsea Lankes

I've been told that I'm restless I've been hurting like hell tried to drown out the questions kept on losing myself always making my own rules always chasing some lights I was running away and I was barely aliveFelt what I was missing, you filled in the space
saw what I had broken,
you put it in place
took all my confusion,
you turned it to faith
ya I knowIf you love someone then let them go so you let me wander on my own but I'm empty drifting all alone, you're my home
now I can see you're my homeI've been walking through graveyards I've been holding my breath watching people find places wondering how they did that yeah it's taken me longer yeah I've wasted some time I was waking up lonely I was trying to be wildFelt what I was missing,
you filled in the space
saw what I had broken,
you put it in place
took all my confusion,
you turned it to faith
ya I knowIf you love someone then let them go
so you let me wander on my own
but I'm empty drifting all alone,
you're my home
now I can see you're my homeWhenever I couldn't stand, you lifted me wherever you land, I promise I will be if ever it's dark outside and you get cold remember that I will hold you close
you're my home

you're my homeIf you love someone then let them go so you let me wander on my own
but I'm empty drifting all alone,
you're my home
now I can see you're my homeWhenever I couldn't stand, you lifted me wherever you land, I promise I will be
if ever it's dark outside and you get cold
remember that I will hold you close
you're my home

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/