Stop Your Crying

Bob Mould

Well, one moment sits suspended in time
What a time I had with you
Living in your fantasy world
Well, there ain't much of a viewI rarely stepped outside of myself
Always caught up in between
Some place I thought was good for my health
Than the place I've always been
So let me tell you nowOh, you better stop your crying
'Cause you're feeling so damn happy
You try to make me feel like dyingOh, you better stop your crying
'Cause the tears that are running down your face
They don't make me feel like dyingWell, I guess I never wanted to crash
In the wave of your emotions
I walked away from all of the trash
Looking for a perfect oceanBut lately I've been finding myself
Fighting upward in the stream
Who could tell that I'm living in hell?
Lord, I must be dreamingOh yeah, you better stop your crying
'Cause I don't listen to you anymore
Even when you know you're lyingOh yeah, I see the story on your face
Stop your crying 'cause you can't Make me feel like dying[Incomprehensible]So now the party's come to and end
And to end a perfect time
I send you love and all of the best
And all the rest is mineAnd I'd rather sit and talk to myself
After all is said and done
What happens next, hey, no one can tell
I ain't tellin' no oneYou better stop your crying
'Cause the tears that are running down your face
They don't make me feel like dying
Oh, you better stop your crying
You ain't even trying, hey, you better, better stop your crying

Lyrics provided by