

Ten Ft Tall (Remastered)

Pete Murray

And if I could, surely would today
And if I knew all the words to say
And I could wisp you away to my world But you might say, "It's just the luck of the draw"
You might say, that you've done this before
You might feel, that you're ten ft tall some days And all I ever wanted to be
Will remain right here with you, and me
And the times we've had And the times we're yet to see
You and me and the things we've done
And I'm sure it's meant to be Do you, do you, do you, do you agree? You fought it well, and you fought it all away
What you learn in school, you learn, you can lose in a day
Many stand for you, they will stand today But you might say, it's just the luck of the draw
You might say, that you've done this before
You might feel, that you're ten ft tall some days And all I ever wanted to be
Will remain right here, with you, and me
And the times we've had And the times we're yet to see
You and me and the things we've done
And I'm sure it's meant to be Do you, do you, do you, do you agree?
Do you, do you, do you, do you agree?
Do you, do you, do you, do you agree?
Do you, do you, do you, do you agree?

Songwriters

Pete Murray Published by

SONY MUSIC AUSTRALIA Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>