Miles Don't Mean Anything

Eye Alaska

'Cause when it rains, it pours in this town
A little darkness closes in
When you're not around,
I hope somehow that you can feel me
'Cause miles don't mean anything

And I've been unable to push you away
But I'm able to understand life like the game we play
You're not afraid of love
And I've been unable to get you away
To talk about the things I wish I could say
Do you know your worth?
'Cause everyday I pray for your words

'Cause when it rains, it pours in this town
A little darkness closes in
When you're not around,
I hope somehow that you can feel me
'Cause miles don't mean anything
More than time exists
Over the momentary fix
'Cause I've never felt so strong
Maybe I'm just wrong
But I don't think so
And Miles don't mean anything
Miles don't mean anything

Late nights spent wondering
What I'm going to do with myself
I'm always stuck inside my head or my heart
You stole my heart

'Cause when it rains, it pours in this town
A little darkness closes in
When you're not around,
I hope somehow that you can feel me
'Cause miles don't mean anything
More than time exists
Over the momentary fix
'Cause I've never felt so strong

Maybe I'm just wrong
But I don't think so
And miles don't mean anything
