

Mourning the Death of Aase

In the Woods...

Modern music has lost its charm because it has forgotten the actual intention with music itself. It does not know that it's originally related with meditation. The same works for all other kinds of art. They have all gone non-meditative and each one of them leads humanity into madness.

The artist creates a certain kind of danger for himself, and thus he creates a danger for those who are his audience. He can be a painter, but his painting is..., it does not express itself through meditation.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>