

Has My Fire Really Gone Out?

Paul Weller

And if I open my eyes, will it then be morning?
First rays of summer sun, coming down and shining
And if I open my heart, and say all that you would want
Hope faith and all I believe, will be there to greet me Put an end to all your doubts
Has my fire really really gone out?
Has my fire really gone out? And if I open my head, remember all that I said
Hey baby what will you find, coming down to meet you? A lot of words but no one talking
I don't want no part of that Something real is what I'm seeking
One clear voice in the wilderness Has my fire really gone out? Put an end to all your doubts
Has my fire really really gone out?
Put an end to all your doubts
Has my fire really really gone out? And if I open my eyes, will it then be morning?
First rays of summer sun, coming down and shining
And if I open my heart, and say all that you would want
Hope faith and all I believe, will be there to greet me Something real is what I'm seeking
One clear voice in the wilderness
