It's All Over

Three Days Grace

Your bottle's almost empty You know this can't go on Because of you My mind is always racingThe needles' breaking your skin The scar is sinking in And now your trip begins But it's all over for, it's all overFor you, for you When you're on the edge and falling off It's all over for you, for you When you're on the edge and falling off It's all overI know what runs through your blood You do this all in vain Because of you My mind is always racingAnd it gets under my skin To see you giving it And now your trip begins But it's all over for, it's all overFor you, for you When you're on the edge and falling off It's all over for you, for you When you're on the edge and falling off It's all overAnd now you're dead inside Still you wonder why It's all over And now you're dead inside Still you wonder why It's all overAnd now you're dead inside Still you wonder why When you're on the edge and falling off

Still you wonder why
When you're on the edge and falling off
It's all over for
(You, for you)And now you're dead inside
It's all over

It's all over for (You, for you)And now you're dead inside
