All That Matters

Addison Road

That's all that matters
I may never be the one that gets a second glance
I may never be the one they call the prettiest
But thats alright with meAnd maybe I dont follow every crazy passion
Spend all my time trying to get a good reaction
Thats okay with meThis world is like a trampoline
High and low no in between Jumping at the chance to please
Everyone but thats not me'Cause all that matters is
All that matters is
I know your love has set me free
Thats all that matters to meAll that matters is
All that matters is
I know your love has set me free
Thats all that matters to meSome people tell me to step out
And do my own thing
And others say I got to blend in
Just to be the same
And stop being meBut this shallow world is no longer what Im made of Ive been changed by grace
Ive been saved by love
What more do I needAll that matters is
All that matters is
I know your love has set me free
Thats all that matters to meAll that matters is
All that matters is
I know your love has set me free
Thats all that matters to meMy life comes from the One
Who made the stars and brought the sun
He loves me more than these
So I dont need another identityAll that matters is
All that matters is
I know your love has set me free
Thats all that matters to meAll that matters is
All that matters is
I know your love has set me free
Thats all that matters to meThats all that matters
Thats all that matters
Thats all that

Thats all that matters

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/