Love You

Jason Rubero

You there on the corner
Playing well old Mercywheel hits
Here's a new song for you
It's called "I Love You Tonight"

The surgeon and the sculptor
If you listen for just a while
The Ghost Hand that guides the tool
Writes "I love you tonight"

Hey you in the factory
Ash and cinder in your eyes
There's a message in the dust on that machine
It's says "I love you tonight"

But somehow it helps
If we can just see your Face
See your Name in the clouds
Everything is alright
Everything is alright

You there in the clinic
Do you ever feel the kick inside
Tapping out in sweet morse code
"God loves me tonight"

The vicar and the harlot
In separate hemispheres
Nature'd like a word with you
And God gave both of your ears

(and He says)

"I don't come down heavy
And I don't come down hard
My message is high and quiet
It's in the whisper of the stars
And it says 'I love you tonight'"

But somehow it helps

If we can just see your Face
See your Name in the clouds
Everything is alright
Everything is alright

But somehow it helps
If we can just see your Smile
See your Face in the clouds
Everything is alright
Everything is alright

Alright?
