

East Northumberland High

Hannah Montana

My problem isn't that I miss you
'Cuz I don't
My problem isn't that I kissed you
Whoa oh I figured out
That you're nothin' that I thought you're about
You're just caught in a place
It's what time will erase in my heart You're my type of guy I guess
If I was stuck in East Northumberland High
For the rest of my life
But people change, thank God I did Just because I liked you back then
It doesn't mean I like you now
Just because I liked you back then
It doesn't mean I like you Your problem's not for lack of tryin'
'Cuz you do
It's just that you're at your best when you're lyin'
Whoa oh Now you're standing here
And saying things you think I wanted to hear
But you got it all wrong
I've already moved on, my dear You're my type of guy I guess
If I was stuck in East Northumberland High
For the rest of my life
But people change, thank God I did Just because I liked you back then
It doesn't mean I like you now
Just because I liked you back then
It doesn't mean I like you When you're standing near me
I don't see so clearly
The feelings are still palpable
But when I take two steps away
It sheds some light on my day Yeah you can't go back
It's all in the past
Guess you gotta laugh at it You're my type of guy I guess
If I was stuck in East Northumberland High
For the rest of my life
But people change, thank God I did And if there's some confusion
Let me tell ya, you're just delusional
Get a clue, 'cuz people change
Thank God I did
Thank God I did
Thank God I did Just because I liked you back then

It doesn't mean I like you now
Just because I liked you back then
It doesn't mean I like you
It doesn't mean I like you Just because I liked you back then
It doesn't mean I like you now Rock and roll, rock it

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>