

Whatever

Pitchshifter

We got sanitised for the plastic dream.

It's the best 'no sell-out' that you've ever seen. Another dead man walking in the cash machine.

Never lost sight of the holy green, oh no. A big business to bleed, down on your knees.

Something to see well you said it, whatever. You keep dropping the tone. Another snap-shot winner on the silver screen. It's the best no talent that you've ever seen, and if I said I'm not sorry would you know what mean? Never lost sight of the holy green, oh no. A big business to bleed, down on your knees.

Something to see, well you said it, whatever. You keep dropping the tone.

More winners to save, a 'c' on your grave. Nothing's for free, well you said it, whatever. Well you're never alone. We got sanitised for the plastic dream.

It's the best 'no sell-out' that you've ever seen. Another dead man walking in the cash machine

Never lost sight of the holy green, oh no. Something to see, well you said it, whatever.

A big business to bleed, down on your knees. You keep dropping the tone. More winners to save, a 'c' on your grave. Nothing's for free, well you said it, whatever. Well you're never alone.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>