Fall Into Me

Hey Monday

I was looking through the chair
You were looking through the mirror
Never met eyes
No, I've never seen clearer than now
There's no way out
I'm tingling in places I didn't know existed
How are things right and also twisted?
How can we work this out?
Somehow everything in me is changing
In the most amazing kind of way
Every single breath you take away
Gives me more life than before
We could be the perfect masterpiece
Baby, bring me in and fall into me
Whenever you are near
I feel like we could do anything
And I think we should now
We'll take the town
Your eyes tell me something
Afraid to misread but if I'm wrong
What if you mislead me?
Still, it's worth the thrill
Somehow everything in me is aching
Just to hear your gentle voice again
Every single breath you take away
Gives me more life than before
We could be the perfect masterpiece
Baby, bring me in
Things aren't simple anymore
Can't jump in until you know
But I think that I just might
Close my eyes and hold on tight
To every single breath
To every single breath
Every single breath you take away
Gives me more life than before
We could be the perfect masterpiece
Baby, bring me in
Every single breath you take away

Gives me more life than before
We could be the perfect masterpiece
Baby, bring me in, bring me in and fall into me
