Lovelorn

Arcana

An amusing thought
A glimpse of your smile
The moment was short
But indeed worthwhileYou stole my eyes
You stole my mind
You cruel device
To me seemed kindYour scheming act
That sinister care
Of kindness lacked
Yet seemed so fairSuddenly awaked
By reality's call
For truth I ached
But you denied it allThe torch for you
I carried too long
Now there's no more glow
And I've grown strongBut when you smile
Exposed to your art
Again you beguile
My poor, lovesick heart
