

Everything (Definition of a Friend)

Anita Wilson

You are more than I could ever imagine
Far beyond what I can comprehend
I would never understand why You love me so much
You're the definition of a friend
I just can't seem to figure it out
The reason You never gave up on me
I've wasted so much time on friends that let me down
But in You I found consistency
I often wondered how my life would be
If one day You decided to take Your grace away from me
I've come to realize that I would be just like a heart without a beat
I'd be a song without a melody
You're my everything, everything
You're my everything
