Never Born

Indiana

You ripped the heart of me, heart of me open
I reign a thousand curses on your soul
All your sons and daughters will be broken
From now on and ever moreAnd all I ever wanted
With my heart was in your hand
Forsaken and abandoned
I wander these waste landsI will rise up, at one with the thunder
All your hopes and dreams are tattered and torn
I will fill your head with dread and wonder
I'm gonna make you wish you were never born
I'm gonna make you wish you were never bornA plague on your existence
Despair with every breath
My fury knows no bounds
My wrath will never restI will rise up, I will rise up, I will rise up, I will rise up
I will rise up, I will rise up, I will rise up, I will rise up
I will rise up, I will rise up, I will rise up, I will rise up
