

Back on the Throne

Firewind

He has always been defiant
And he's gotta take control
No sympathy or kindness

In his blackened empty soul His legions set the pace
Marching onward to the west
So he looms behind the silence

Let all his minions do their best They're shooting straight for the heart
And wanna tear us apart
They're gonna cut to the bone

It's gonna take some time to put you back on the throne
On the throne

Back on the throne

On the throne

Sailing right into destruction

Then defeated by his foe

Gotta find a way to fall back

But there's nowhere left to go The trumpets sound "retreat"
But it just too late for some
And the man behind the failure

Soon will greet his "kingdom come" They're shooting straight for the heart
And wanna tear us apart
They're gonna cut to the bone

It's gonna take some time to put you back on the throne
On the throne

On the throne

On the throne Back on the throne

On the throne

Straight for the heart

They tear us apart

They cut to the bone

It's gonna take some time to put you back on the throne

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>