

From My Window Sill

David Mead

From my window sill, overlooking the river
I believe I will forgive her
I believe I will forget herFrom my window sill high above the city
She is gone and I have left her
And I'm sure I won't regret herAnd the taxis are rolling by
And the girls dressed in the latest styles
From the subway to the marble sky
There's no sign of heartbreak for milesFrom my window sill i can go on dreaming
High above the world tonightAnd the taxis are rolling by
And the girls dressed in the latest styles
From the concrete to the marble sky
There's no sign of heartbreak for milesFrom my window sill, overlooking the river
I believe I will forgive her
I believe I will tonight
