You Win Again

MU330

All right you win again we're friends, I sit back and watch
This end, how could you said you never would go back on your word, alright we're friends you win again
You laid me down down to rest, stacking bricks upon my chest
I felt my will slowly leave with each breath harder to breath these racks of clothes never looked so used up and old they never looked so used up and old

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/