

Oliver's Tune

Peter Katz

Though I've got my number
I am calm here in the storm
Cause my hands still are hungry
Spirit warm
And in view all around me
My friends have gathered near
And all I've ever needed is right here
But if I look too far ahead of me
I stumble into tragedy
When really it's not sad you see
'Cause here I am playing my final song
Doing what I've been doing
All along
You can call it courage
Or you can call it strong
But really it's just simply carrying on
While amplifying all the good
You've been engaging in
With only just a few less days
To squeeze all of it in
But if I look too far ahead of me
I stumble into tragedy
When really it's not sad you see
'Cause here I am playing my final song
With all of you surrounding me
So when I'm free from gravity
I will know that I was never wrong
In doing what I was doing
All along (repeated)
I'm not one to tell people
What it is they should do
But if you're asking then I guess
There's one thing I would say to you
Do those things you've always wanted to
