Losing Tonight

Edwin Mccain

I can't believe it
What my eyes are seeing
When the big wheel stops turning
There's nothing left to believe in Release me from this moment
Because I can't hold on anymore
And I'm fallin' into darkness
Will you be there to break my fall?
It's too late to worry
I'll wait until morning
Comes around again
'Cause it feels like
I'm losing tonight
When I'm fighting the reasons
Changing all I believe in
I'm reaching out slowly
To the distant ship she'll be
As the colors fade
To a different shade
In this town
The waters never flow
Release me
From this moment

I need to let go
It's too late to worry
I'll wait until morning
Comes around again
'Cause it feels like
I'm losing tonight
As the colors fade
To a different shade
In this town
The waters never flow
Release me
From this moment
'Cause I need to let go
It's too late to worry
I'll wait until morning

Comes around again
'Cause it feels like, oh
I'm losing, well, I'm losing tonight
Yeah, I'm losing tonight
Well, I'm losing tonight
Losing tonight
