

The Curse

Disturbed

Marked for demolition
I'm just a time bomb ticking inside
No hope for the hopeless
I can see the pieces are laid out in front of me
No point even asking why
Couldn't help even if you try
Step inside and you might just be
The next contestant to feel the brutality
Devastation, obliteration
Are all in a part of exacerbation
There's no explaining my situation
Now why does this shit keep happening to me?
I've held on too long just to let it go now
Will my inner strength get me through it some how?
Defying the curse that has taken hold
Never surrender, I'll never be overcome
Too dark for forgiveness
I can't seem to do anything right
When I try to rebuild I see my humble shelter
Just fall to the ground again
Object of an evil eye
No point to let anyone try
Take heed, my friend, lest you be torn asunder
Like all that's become of me
Decimation, disintegration
All being apart of imagination
There's no explaining my situation
Now why does this shit keep happening to me?
I've held on too long just to let it go now
Will my inner strength get me through it some how?
Defying the curse that has taken hold
Never surrender, I'll never be overcome
I've held on too long just to let it go now
Will my inner strength get me through it some how?
Defying the curse that has taken hold
Never surrender, I'll never be overcome
I've held on too long just to let it go now
Will my inner strength get me through it some how?
Defying the curse that has taken hold
Never surrender, I'll never be overcome

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>