Highest Walls

Amy Meredith

I fell asleep on a cloud where the sky was too loud
I'd never thought I'd be watching the sun from so high up in the sky
Get me out of this mess I found myself in again
I know I'm in trouble, I'm seeing double and I'm so ashamedI'm breaking down, the highest walls are set in stone
Though this timing means nothing
The world won't sing the saddest songs tonight
I'll find my way homeI feel asleep on a cloud where the sky was too loud
I know it's a little funny but I'm not running from anyone
Someone find me a shrink to fix the hole in my head
I know it's a little strange, I'm a little deranged and my mind is dangerousAh, ah, ah, ahI'm breaking down, the highest walls are set in stone
Though this timing means nothing
The world won't sing the saddest songs tonight
I'll find my way homeIt's inevitable
They will never be the same again
It's inevitable
They will never feel the same again, woah, ohI'm breaking down, the highest walls are set in stone
Though this timing means nothing
The world won't sing the saddest songs tonight
I'll find my way homeI'm breaking down, the highest walls are set in stone
Though this timing means nothing
The world won't sing the saddest songs tonightI'm breaking down, the highest walls are set in stone
Though this timing means nothing
The world won't sing the saddest songs tonight
The lessons learnt the hardest way tonight
I'll find my way home
