

Election Year

Gameface

Im not waiting around anymore.

I've got to get out and get things done.

Im not going to school anymore because Im smart enough now.

Im in need of a change of pace.

I hate this place. I hate my neighbors.

I can't wait until Im miles away wondering where I am going to sleep.

Its an election year.

Can you feel the changes coming? Its an election year but who's voting? Im not afraid of you going away.

I seem to think that we met just in time.

Don't regret the plans you've made because

I won't forget you. Just remember the things I said and what it meant to be so summer and when you're days away, take the time to look down at your feet.

You can watch me fall asleep while you pack your life in cardboard boxes.

Ill keep your letters in my pocket.

I'll keep your picture in my wallet
