

Secrets

Alice Smith

The morning after
The only laughter
Echoes from the night before
I'm feeling broken
Words already spoken
Lay crumpled
And hurt on the floor Except for those
That I should not have said
Guarded secrets
Locked inside my head
Oh, what did I tell
Precious gems entrusted to me
Those were struggling to be free
Uncontrolled
From my mouth they fell Oh, secrets, some mine
Some his, some hers, secrets The truth's so easy
'Cause i'm so lazy
It comes so naturally
Oops, I told him
Just where you've been Perhaps
I should not have told him Please in future don't burden me
With your lies and your secrecy
I deal with my own
Because from my mouth they fell
I have trouble
Keeping things on the DL
When they're not seeds
That I've sown Oh, secrets, some mine
Some his, some hers, secrets
Oh, secrets, some mine
Some his, some hers Thought I'd keep it
Underneath my hat
But temptation won me over
Just like that
Thank you not
For the extra guilt I got
When you said what you said
I'm just a child

Wild and free
I need the time
To take care of me
Take the time to care
For number one soPlease in future don't burden me
With your lies and your secrecy
I deal with my own
When they're the seeds
Some his, some hers
