Fire Dance

Kevin Hays

I woke up still dreaming
The air was static
My eyes can't see
My senses turn to automaticSo I dream again
The waves have reached the shore
So I dream again
And wait for something moreNo sign, no answer
I'm looking at mountains, but I'm way too close
No sign, no wonder
I'm looking at every way to break the circleDance me to the fire dance
Following steps in the sand
Dance me to the fire dance
All hell has come loose, the future is out of my hands
Not what I plannedI'm stolen, I'm broken
I'm changing colors
The veil has gone and so has
Everything that mattersCome and hear the sound
Of silence in the haze
Can you hear the sound
The colors that it makes?No sound, no images
This must be darkness by another name
No sound, no answer
Some kind of evils come to carry us awayInto the fire dance
Following steps in the sand
Dance me to the fire dance
All hell has come loose, the future is brokenDance me to the fire dance
Following steps in the sand
Dance me to the fire dance
All hell has come loose, the future is not what I plannedAnd so I dream again I dream
The waves have reached the shore it seems
And so I dream again I dreamDance me to the fire dance
Following steps in the sand
Dance me to the fire dance
All hell has come looseDance me to the fire dance
Following steps in the sand
Dance me to the fire dance
All hell has come looseThe future has spoken
Words have been broken
