

Predictable

Good Charlotte

Something isn't right
I can feel it again, feel it again
This isn't the first time that you left me waiting
Sad excuses and false hope tie
I saw this coming still I don't know why I let you in I knew it all along
You're so predictable
I knew something would go wrong So you don't have to call
Or say anything at all
You're so predictable So take your empty words, your broken promises
And all the time you stole 'cause I am done with this
I can give it away, give it away, I'm doing everything I should've
And now I'm making a change, I'm living the day
I'm giving back what you gave me, I don't need anything I knew it all along
You're so predictable
I knew something would go wrong So you don't have to call
Or say anything at all
You're so predictable Everywhere I go
Everyone I meet
Every time I try to fall in love
They all want to know why I'm so broken Why am I so cold?
Why I'm so hard inside?
Why am I scared?
What am I afraid of?
I don't even know This story's never had an end
I've been waiting
I've been searching
I've been hoping
I've been dreaming you would come back But I know the ending of this story
You're never coming back
Never I knew it all along
You're so predictable
I knew something would go wrong So you don't have to call
Or say anything at all
You're so predictable Everywhere I go for the rest of my life
Everyone I love
Everyone I care about
They're all gonna wanna know what's wrong with me
And I know what it is
I'm ending this right now

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>