Wicked Waters

Benjamin Booker

This must be where I
Lose it all, darling
Throw myself into wicked waters
This must be where I
Lose it all, darling
Throw myself into wicked waters.Well, I'm tired of feeling guilty
Just want a little bit more
A new foundation!
A new foundation!
I work until I fall down, baby
Then I work a little bit moreWhen I was just a small boy
Oh, I wanted it, I wanted it all
A new foundation!
A new foundation!And now I would be happier
To just be standing tallWell my heart is feeling empty
Well my legs are feeling weak
Well my hands still hurt from yesterday
Well I stumble when I speakOh, I'm afraid I'll never be nothing
But I'll never change all that I am
Oh, I'll change, I'll change
All I am, all I am
I'll make it on this run
I'm a new beginning, I will
Learn to love, oh
I am, what I am
I'll make it on this run
I'm a new beginning, I will
Learn to love, oh
Oh, learn to loveThis must be where I
Lose it all, darling
Throw myself into wicked waters
This must be where I
Lose it all, darling
Throw myself into wicked waters.Woke me from a stagnant place
To say we had a child
A new beginning!
A new beginning!
We'll raise this one the right way up
Oh raise him to be wild!We'll teach him about our brokenness,

And the things we wish we knew
A new beginning!
A new beginning!
They'll stare at us with spiteful eyes
And make this wish they'd stealWell my heart is feeling empty
Well my legs are feeling weak
Well my heads sore from yesterday
Well I stumble when I speak.Oh, I'm a - I'll never be nothing
And I remember change
Oh, I'll change, I'll change all I am!
What I am, I'll make it on this run
I'm a new beginning, I will
Learn to love, oh
I am, what I am,
I'll make it on this run
I'm a new beginning, I will
Learn to love, oh
Oh, I feel love!

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/