

Good Morning Baby

Bic Runga and Dan Wilson of Semisonic

Between an overload of information
And a striving for a pure dedication
I find myself looking for the exit sign

See your pretty face in the sunshineIn the morning after staying up all night

I want to wake you just to hear you

Tell me it's alright

And all I want to be is too much

Sometimes for meGood morning baby

I hope I'm gonna make it through another day

Good morning baby

I hope I'm gonna make it through another daySee the stars and all the planets

Fly the great wide world and have it all

Yeah better get a ticket better get in line

I'm praying now for beautiful weatherTake a car and drive forever

But I'm only ever sitting at the traffic light

And all the world to see is too much

Sometimes for meGood morning baby

I hope I'm gonna make it through another day

Good morning baby

I hope we're gonna make it through another day(And when you rise)

And when you rise you'll find me here

(Open your eyes)

And see myself
