

Didn't Give A Damn

Houston

Yeah, it's all good, I'm doing better without you
Anyway, but it's funny, we look just alike
Everyday that I look in the mirror
A reflection of someone, I don't remember
But I heard that he was something special
To someone that I hold so dear to me
She said he was a singer, oh, he could sing, yeah
But he used it to abuse a lot of women
Now your seed was a he and that seed is now me
And I love my son and my son loves me
And I know that its painful but I wish you could see
That a man is what I am, tho' you didn't give a damn
When you left her on her own to raise me all alone
And it's hard for me to hate ya when she says that I'm just like ya
So I'm praying everyday that God will change my ways
'Cause a man is what I am, tho' you didn't give a damn
When you left her on her own to raise me all alone
And it's hard for me to hate ya when she says that I'm just like ya
So I'm praying everyday that God will change my ways
Was never there for me
How could you betray me
Broke up the family tree
What about me, what about me
Now I hear that you wanna see me
But I can't let it go not that easy
See a man only knows what he feels
And I feel that I can't trust you
Keep it real, I don't need you
And I can't think that you would think
That I would ever be like you
Cause its sad that you're my dad
And I don't know you
Even when I see you
And to my son
I could never leave you

That a man is what I am, tho' you didn't give a damn
When you left her on her own to raise me all alone
And it's hard for me to hate ya when she says that I'm just like ya

So I'm praying everyday that God will change my ways
'Cause a man is what I am, tho' you didn't give a damn
When you left her on her own to raise me all alone
And it's hard for me to hate ya when she says that I'm just like ya
So I'm praying everyday that God will change my ways
You was never there
Probably didn't care
Don't you had a son
While you on the run
Never thought that twice
Of being in my life
'Cause you broke a happy home
Why you leaving us alone
Never gave a damn
To find out who I am
It's to late
For you to communicate
You was never there
Probably didn't care
That you had a son
While you on the run
That a man is what I am, tho' you didn't give a damn
When you left her on her own to raise me all alone
And it's hard for me to hate ya when she says that I'm just like ya
So I'm praying everyday that God will change my ways
'Cause a man is what I am, tho' you didn't give a damn
When you left her on her own to raise me all alone
And it's hard for me to hate ya when she says that I'm just like ya
So I'm praying everyday that God will change my ways
Don't make me, don't make me
Don't make me, turn out like him
Ohh, never gonna be like you
Never gonna walk, talk like you, no

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>