Indecision

Splatter

Long days come alive
I take it in through my eyes
Long days of paper tigers
They ate all the words of the wise
Now my spirit and bones take me
Straight to a fork in the road
Now my spirit and bones take me
Somewhere I've never known
And if I face indecision
Don't let me face it alone
Just take me straight to Virginia
Back to the faces of home
Long days fade away
I take it in through my eyes
Sometimes survival's the milestone
Electrified like a lightning tree
Take these spirit and bones
And catapult from the ground
What doesn't throw you or burn you
Will surely turn you around
And if I face indecision
Don't let me face it alone
Just take me straight to Virginia

Back to the places I know
And if I face indecision
Don't let me face it alone
Just take me straight to Virginia
Back to the faces of home
Long days come alive
I face the trail of 'The Old Lonesome Pine'
I catch a glimpse, flickers of brilliance
Straight ahead for what's left behind
Long days fade away
I hope to see them again
But sometimes survival's the milestone
I may get lost but I know where I've been Know where I've been, I know where I am right now
If I face indecision

Don't let me face it alone
Just take me straight to Virginia
Back to the places I know
And if I face indecision
Don't let me face it alone
Just take me straight to Virginia
Back to the faces of home
