

I Say No

Fuel Fandango

Lately you've been bothered by your friends
We will disturb you, to make you talk again
Try to find the other side of you
The things you hide, what you don't say We say no, oh no
We won't let you slip in between
We say no, oh no
We won't let you squeeze right through Give you second chances easily
We wait for answers, for hours and years
But the sadness in your eyes won't go away
It becomes you, in a strange kind of way I wonder where you come from, who you've been
What you gain, if you win?
But my guess is right you break like glass
And I wonder where, your god was then I say no, oh no
I won't let you slip in between
I say no, oh no
I won't let you squeeze right through Oh, how sweet a girl like you can be
When she tries
You're changing skin like I change clothes
You're faking it well but it shows You say, lately I've been bothered by my friends
They need forgiveness
I need therapy, they say Better lock up well before they come
With their priers and loaded guns
Better lock up well before they come
More than ten years to ignore, what they here for We say no, oh no
We won't let you slip in between
We say no, oh no
We won't let you squeeze right through We say no, no, no, no
Since you fall from every throne

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>