

Second Chance

Cory Morrow

There's a world out there, full of love
And a world of people say that aint enough
Well I feel alright and I'm not alone
Everybody's got to choose there own road to go

Nothing's sacred
Sept this love I shared with you
No ones hated
I just hate to think that I've lost you
You are my music
My heart is longing to dance
Would you be foolish enough?
To give me a second chance

There's people fighting in the streets
What there fighting for I just cant see
Seems to be no cause for love
If that's true I hold a message from the man above

(And he says)

Nothing's sacred
Sept for this love he shares with you
No ones hated
He just hates to think that he's lost you
You are his music
His heart is longing to dance
Before he's foolish enough
He gave you a second chance

It seems I'm running outta time
It's getting harder for the words to rhyme
I feel the music burning in my soul
Beating out a rhythm to the road

Nothing's sacred
Sept for this love I shared with you
No ones hated
I just hate to think that I've lost you
You are my music

My heart is longing to dance
Would you be foolish enough?
To give me a second chance

---

Lyrics submitted by Billy.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>