Wide Awake

Biohazard

Pain inside me is taking over again Wide awake I open my eyes into a nightmare of a life that I despise I gotta, break it down to the bare essentials 'cause life's too short to be sentimental. I ain't fuckin' around. Filled with dread - gun under the bed to clip all the motherfuckers trying to keep me down, Twisting around inside my head so many crazy visions - am I better off dead? tears flow and fists start to mangle. Wide awake my eyes are open I- can't breathe my heart is choking and I can't speak the words unspoken and I can't believe my life is broken again(my life is broken) Keep trying to tell myself "everything will be OK, everything will go my way" 'till life steps in and slaps on the strangle, I wake up screaming everyday, nobody pays attention when I'm writhing in pain, I got a glitch in my brain I gotta- break free from anxiety, Chorus: I gotta let go of life 'cause it's killing me Wide awake my eyes are open I- can't breathe my heart is choking and I can't speak the words unspoken and I can't believe my life is broken again My eyes are open, my heart is choking, on words unspoken, my life is broken again I can't believe my life is broken apart again, sick of everybody talking about the things they never do, I can't conceive my time was never well spent, motherfuckers talking shit about who? YOU!! Pain inside me is taking over again Chorus How many times can you ask for a chance and expect everybody to keep giving it, forgiving it? Realize this is the last time to waste away, deteriorate, decompose, and decline?
