

Like a Hitman, Like a Dancer

A.C. Newman

Like a hitman,
oh like a dancer.

All muscle,
all muscle.

Like the old champion,
about to go under,
I owe my soul,
owe my soul.

Like a changed man,
but not a changed man,
you were gonna change sides,
but you wanted to wait,
change sides but you wanted to wait.

Like a fourth wall,
car chase on blue screen,
All eyes roll,
all eyes roll.

Like a snowfall blankets the city,
swallow whole,
swallow whole.

Like a changed man,
but not a changed man,
you were gonna changes sides,
but you wanted to wait.
Change sides,
but you wanted to wait.

Like a hitman, like a dancer,
all muscle.
all muscle

Like a balancing act or a stage whisper, it's all I know.
it's all I know

Like a changed man

but not a changed man,
you're gonna change sides but you wanted to wait.
change sides but you wanted to wait

Like a changed man
but not a changed man,
you're gonna change sides but you wanted to wait.
change sides but you wanted to wait

Like a hitman, like a dancer.
Like a hitman, like a dancer.

Lyrics submitted by Kaley.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>