Brandy

The O'Jays

Sittin' by the open fireplace in my favorite dungarees Played a few bars of a melody, and it sounded sweet to me I thought I'd get up and take a look around, but my feet got in the way Stumbled to the floor, she was right in the door, I could see her faceBut how could it be, she ran away from me My best friend's gone, I'm so all aloneI kinda miss you Brandy, I'm so all alone When are you coming back home? I really miss you Brandy, missing you everyday Are you coming home to stay? 'Cause I love you Brandy, oh yeah yeah Sippin' on a cherry soda pop, building houses made of sand Like a little child with a fantasy, just a fraction of a man But I was in love when they put it down Oh, my doorstep in the rain I could feel the love coming to my heart, through my window paneBut how could I know, she would just up and gone My best friend gone, I'm so all aloneI really miss you Brandy, I'm so all alone When are you coming back home? I really miss you Brandy, missing you everyday Are you coming home to stay? I kinda miss you Brandy When are you coming back home? I'm so all alone I really miss you Brandy, missing you everyday Are you coming home to stay?Oh, I really miss you Brandy, I'm so all alone When are you coming back home? Oh, I really miss you Brandy, missing you everyday Are you coming home to stay? I really miss you, oh, Brandy When are you coming back home? I'm so all alone I really miss you
