

Zoo

Hazel O'Connor

Hazel O'Connor What can I do? Up here in the zoo
I've been here too much longer than I remember
 What can I say, will there be a day
When we can all leave this place forever, forever, forever
 Wake up at 8, place you hate
 Ready by 9 for feeding time
 Spectators at 10 to look in your pen
And we perform for them At the zoo, you, you what do you do
 At the zoo, you, you we perform for you
 At the zoo, you, you what do you care
You just stand there and stare Animals cry at night, a tearful tiger is a terrible sight
 He remembers how he used to run free like me
 And we don't laugh anymore
 Sitting wondering what we ever laughed for
 Looking at the ever closed door
 What more, what more
