Let the Demons Free

Thunderstone

I have become endlessly numb, I don't know myself anymore
Things I have done always on the run, I can see myself in deep fall
Within or without, but never allowed to be first in line in this life
Pushed to the limit, the edge I have seen it, I'm losing my willAll these years and all these days of my life
I've been blind and never saw through the lies
Now it's time, time to unchain my heart
Release myself and to be me, let the demons freeThere's one life to live and so much to give, too much wasted moments
Hear my cry out, hear it so loud, I am stronger, faster and coming through
Now this has to stop, I'll fight 'til I drop for the dreams, I feel I'm alive again
No more concession, it's time for a confession, I'll let my demons freeAll these years and all these days of my life
I've been blind and never saw through the lies
Now it's time, time to unchain my heart
Release myself and to be me, let the demons free

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/