Peace Of Mind

Nonpoint

You could've been satisfied
You could've been full inside
You could've been happy simply with your peace of mind
You could've been satisfied
You could've been full inside
You could've been happy simply with your peace of mind
Trapped inside
Places I'm starting to hate
Stuck inside
Wasted I fall into place
Watching the world and waiting for something to change
Do what we have to to get what we need
From what's left for people like me
Battered and bruised from the chances I take
It's the impossible way that I think

You could've been satisfied
You could've been full inside
You could've been happy simply with your,
Peace of mind
More than just a thorn in my side
More than just our difference aside
Im choosing sides now
Still waiting
For my peace of mind
Now, no strings attached to the

Promises given to the Faces and places of those that I hate
It's the impossible way that I think
You could've been satisfied
You could've been full inside
You could've been happy simply with your,
Peace of mind
Here's your share and my share
You still need
More to fill
It's all, or nothing at all
You take from me

You need the rest from me
You could've been satisfied
You could've been full inside
You could've been happy simply with your,
Peace of mind
You could've been satisfied
You could've been full inside
You could've been happy simply with your,
Peace of mind
