Front Line Assembly

The time has come to make a stand
No compromise in sight
No more words, it's time to act
The battle has begun
The battle has begun I can't hold back the rage no more
My brain is on fire
No more words and no more lies
And take what you desire
Take what you desire For long enough you've cheated yourself
And now it's time to act More power to society
Will only drag you down
Just stand up for yourself
With both feet on the ground
With both feet on the ground Believe in what you try to do
Don't let them bring you down
More power to society
Will only drag you down The time has come to make a stand
No compromise in sight
No more words, it's time to act
The battle has begun
The battle has begun I can't hold back the rage no more
My brain is on fire
No more words and no more lies
Take what you desire
Take what you desire
Take what you desire I can't hold back the rage no more
My brain is on fire
No more words and no more lies
And take what you desire
Take what you desire The time has come to make a stand
No compromise in sight
No more words, it's time to act
The battle has begun More power to society
Will only drag you down
Just stand up for yourself
With both feet on the ground
With both feet on the ground Believe in what you try to do
Don't let them bring you down
More power to society

Will only drag you down
