

It Sure Took A Long, Long Time

Lobo

I'm sure it might have grown old
Like most young things usually do
And dangling a line to try and find your mind
For that I can't blame you.
Now I'm not questioning your motives
For all the silly things you've done
Now you're coming round putting yourself down
Telling me I always was the one
It sure took a long time to miss me
A long time for you to come around
A long time to find what was wrong
It sure took a long, long time.
The magic that we had together
Seems so much stronger than before
What did I learn to make the love return
Oh girl I've got to learn some more.
