

Empire & the Sun

The Moth & The Flame

These walls don't run from anything

These walls don't run from anything

They stand

Still'Cause you're the Empire and the Sun

You're the voice that calls me home

And you're the place that makes me want to stay

But your walls I cannot climb

You are, you are I'm a house on fire, and everyone is leaving

I'm a house on fire, and everyone is leaving

Me'Cause you're the Empire and the Sun

And you're the voice that calls me home

And you're the place that makes me want to stay

But your walls I cannot climb

You are, you are I could never love someone who could love someone like me

I could never love someone who could love someone like me

I could never love someone who could love someone like me

I could never love someone who could love someone like me

I could never love someone who could love someone like me

Someone like me

Like me'Cause you're the Empire and the Sun

And you're the voice that calls me home

And you're the place that makes me want to stay

But your walls I cannot climb

You are, you are, you are, you are, you are I could never love someone who could love someone like me

Anyone falls, anyone falls they ran away

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>