I Still Believe

Bbmak

Well, I wouldn't know where to run or how to hide
I've been watching the world as it passed me by Trying to climb but I just can't find my feet
But I still believe
It doesn't matter what life you lead or the love you need
Lost in the world as it passes by
Trying to smile but you just can't hide your tears
Do you still believe?
I still believe that we can live together
In a land of broken dreams
I still believe if we put our hands together
And pray for all our hopes and dreams
'Cause I only wanna let you know how I feel Watching the love as it passes by
Trying to smile but I just can't hide my tears
But I still believe
I still believe that we can live together
In a land of broken dreams
I still believe if we put our hands together
And pray for all our hopes and dreams
Floating on your own star
That's always sent to break your heart
And put it back together once again
Once again, once again
I still believe that we can live together
In a land of broken dreams
I still believe if we put our hands together
And pray for all our hopes and dreams
I still believe that we can live together
In a land of broken dreams
I still believe i we put our hands together
And pray for all our hopes and dreams
Floating on your own star
