

Annie

Emily Hearn

Annie, why'd you have to look at me that way?
I didn't mean to make you cry
Oh, Annie, I think there must be another way
'Cause he's not treating you right
Just grow your hair out long if you want to
Do what you've wanted to do
But don't you dare make it all about him
Oh, he's never made it all about you
Annie, you told me you're happy, but I think you lied
I see the pain in your eyes
You're waiting for the day you're truly loved
I just don't think that he's the one
Just grow your hair out long if you want to
Do what you've wanted to do
But don't you dare make it all about him
Oh, he's never made it all about you
You deserve someone who makes it about you
I can't watch you give your heart away
For a handful of empty love
Trying so hard to be the one he wants
He should love you the way you are
Tell me, what makes people act this way?
Some people shout, some people hide
And they keep holding on, thinking that it makes them strong
When letting go can make it right
So go on, cut your hair off as short as you want to
Do what you've wanted to do
But don't you dare make it all about him
Oh, he's never made it all about you
You deserve someone who makes it about you
