Kavana

Digging deep inside my mind
Looking for a clearer view
Think I've found the answer now
And every one led back to youAnd I believe with time and chance
That everything was meant to be
Seems that luck is on my side
I know that someone's watching meA brand new thought occurred to me today
It's funny how the truth can light your way
And every woman, every man, it's time for you to understand
Can't you see that there's a bigger planI am protected by your love for me
You've given me the strength to be protected
When I'm out there on my own
I am protected every night and day
Protected since you came my way
When you're protected you can't be aloneAnd I have wandered every land
Smiled and shook a stranger's hand
You told me I should never be
Frightened of the truth you seeSatisfied, I freed my soul
I've seen my mission turn to gold
When troubles they outnumber you
Your heard will know just what to doA brand new thought occurred to me today
It's funny how the truth can light your way
And every woman, every man, it's time for you to understand
Can't you see that there's a bigger planI am protected by your love for me
You've given me the strength to be protected
When I'm out there on my own
I am protected every night and day
Protected since you came my way
When you're protected you can't be aloneI am protected by your love for me
You've given me the strength to be protected
When I'm out there on my own
I am protected every night and day
Protected since you came my way
When you're protected you can't be aloneProtected every night and day
Protected since you came my way
