Blue Skies

Steve James

Don't you ever count me out
I'll be there before the dawn
When stars are blue, the skies will glow
Light the fire and up we go
There is only one way you will know

200 miles before the dawn
You sleep beside me as we roll on
The night is cold and dark
As we pull in to park
To open up your silk surprise

We've got Blue Skies all around us
Blue Skies
There's no one here but you and me
A mile up and floating free
There's no place on this earth I'd rather be
Then up in Blue Skies

Wake up early tryin' to beat the clock
Stumble to my coffee in a cloud
Other people probably think we're crazy
But the Marquee would be proud

If I write this song for you to sing
Baby, will you promise me this one thing?
Maybe you could try
To teach me how to fly
Above the clouds a mile high?

Up in Blue Skies
Yeah, up in Blue Skies
Where whispers are the only sound
And only smiles can be found
There's no one here but you and me
A mile up and floating free
There's no place on this earth I'd rather be
Then up in Blue Skies
